Excerpt from J. Falke's Manual, or Self-Instructor in the Art of Chemistry: For Barbers, Hair Dressers, Dyers and Druggists, Compiled From Original Discoveries T is a science and involves principles and art, as it consists of rules for practice. As a profession, does not yet embrace large numbers of men, who are alike ornaments to the race, and lights of their profession. I am sorry to be obliged to add, that a great body of the profession does very little care, whether they require more talent or not. And it is a mistaken idea with that class of men, thinking that their profession can not be advanced by talent.
