In an international security environment described as one of renewed great power competition, the South China Sea (SCS) has emerged as an arena of U.S.-China strategic competition. U.S.-China strategic competition in the SCS forms an element of the Trump Administration's moreconfrontational overall approach toward China, and of the Administration's efforts for promotingits construct for the Indo-Pacific region, called the Free and Open Indo-Pacific (FOIP) China's actions in the SCS in recent years-including extensive island-building and base construction activities at sites that it occupies in the Spratly Islands, as well as actions by itsmaritime forces to assert China's claims against competing claims by regional neighbors such asthe Philippines and Vietnam-have heightened concerns among U.S. observers that China isgaining effective control of the SCS, an area of strategic, political, and economic importance tothe United States and its allies and partners. Actions by China's maritime forces at the Japanadministered Senkaku Islands in the East China Sea (ECS) are another concern for U.S. observers. Chinese domination of China's near-seas region-meaning the SCS and ECS, alongwith the Yellow Sea-could substantially affect U.S. strategic, political, and economic interests inthe Indo-Pacific region and elsewhere

Despite persistent pressure from state censors and other tools of political control, investigative journalism has flourished in China over the last decade. This volume offers a comprehensive, first-hand look at investigative journalism in China, including insider accounts from reporters behind some of China's top stories in recent years. While many outsiders hold on to the stereotype of Chinese journalists as docile, subservient Party hacks, a number of brave Chinese reporters have exposed corruption and official misconduct with striking ingenuity and often at considerable personal sacrifice. Subjects have included officials pilfering state funds, directors of public charities pocketing private donations, businesses fleecing unsuspecting consumers - even the misdeeds of journalists themselves. These case studies address critical issues of commercialization of the media, the development of ethical journalism practices, the rising specter of "news blackmail," negotiating China's mystifying bureaucracy, the dangers of libel suits, and how political pressures impact different stories. During fellowships at the Journalism & Media Studies Centre of the University of Hong Kong, these narratives and other background materials were fact-checked and edited by JMSC staff to address critical issues related to the media transitions currently under way in the PRC. This engaging narrative gives readers a vivid sense of how journalism is practiced in China. --David Bandurski is a scholar at the University of Hong Kong's China Media Project, a research and fellowship initiative of the Journalism & Media Studies Centre. Martin Hala has taught journalism at the Universities in Prague and Bratislava. -

Beginning with the absolutely critical first moments of the outbreak in China, and ending with an epilogue on the vaccine rollout and the unprecedented events between the election of Joseph Biden and his inauguration, Lawrence Wright's The Plague Year surges forward with essential information--and fascinating historical parallels--examining the medical, economic, political, and social ramifications of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Broken Stars, edited by multi award-winning writer Ken Liu--translator of the bestselling and Hugo Award-winning novel The Three Body Problem by acclaimed Chinese author Cixin Liu-- is his second thought-provoking anthology of Chinese short speculative fiction. Some of the included authors are already familiar to readers in the West (Liu Cixin and Hao Jingfang, both Hugo winners); some are publishing in English for the first time. Because of the growing interest in newer SFF from China, virtually every story here was first published in Chinese in the 2010s. The stories span the range from short-stories to novellas, and evoke every hue on the emotional spectrum. Besides stories firmly entrenched in subgenres familiar to Western SFF readers such as hard SF, cyberpunk, science fantasy, and space opera, the anthology also includes stories that showcase deeper ties to Chinese culture: alternate Chinese history, chuanyue time travel, satire with historical and contemporary allusions that are likely unknown to the average Western reader. While the anthology makes no claim or attempt to be "representative" or "comprehensive," it demonstrates the vibrancy and diversity of science fiction being written in China at this moment. In addition, three essays at the end of the book explore the history of Chinese science fiction publishing, the state of contemporary Chinese fandom, and how the growing interest in science fiction in China has impacted writers who had long labored in obscurity. Stories include: " Goodnight, Melancholy " by Xia Jia " The Snow of Jinyang " by Zhang Ran " Broken Stars " by Tang Fei " Submarines " by Han Song " Salingers and the Koreans " by Han Song " Under a Dangling Sky " by Cheng Jingbo " What Has Passed Shall in Kinder Light Appear " by Baoshu " The New Year Train " by Hao Jingfang " The Robot Who Liked to Tell Tall Tales " by Fei Dao " Moonlight " by Liu Cixin " The Restaurant at the End of the Universe: Laba Porridge" by Anna Wu " The First Emperor ' s Games " by Ma Boyong " Reflection " by Gu Shi " The Brain Box " by Regina Kanyu Wang " Coming of the Light " by Chen Qiufan " A History of Future Illnesses " by Chen Qiufan Essays: " A Brief Introduction to Chinese Science Fiction and Fandom, " by Regina Kanyu Wang, " A New Continent for China Scholars: Chinese Science Fiction Studies " by Mingwei Song " Science Fiction: Embarrassing No More " by Fei Dao For more Chinese SF in translation, check out Invisible Planets.
